HARRISON (a)—Ancestry desired of James Harrison, of Sumner County, Tennessee, in 1785. He was related to President William Henry Harrison. He married Cynthia Gibson and had: James, Nat, Cynthia (married Colonel Robert Wynn), Susan (married Archibald McKissack), Caroline (married a Williams). Will correspond.

GIBSON (b)—Ancestry desired of Cynthia Gibson (above). Her family was from South Carolina. She had brother, Roger; sister, Rhoda (who married James Odom); a half-sister, Susan Black (married General Winchester), and two half-brothers, John and Gabriel Black. All settled early in Sumner County.

HARRISON.

Answer to Query 803. J. M. H., April 26, 1931—I am seeking information as to Nancy Harrison's parents. Marriages as listed in First Will Book of Morgan County, Georgia, show that Nancy Harrison and Reuben Mann were married October 31, 1815. Reuben Mann was my great-grandfather. Does J. M. H. know from what county in Virginia the Harrisons came? Does he know whether William Harrison and Nancy Harrison were related?

Answer to Query 1,257 (a) Harrison-Patillo—I will be glad to correspond with person desiring Harrison-Patillo information. There is recorded in old Butte County, made from Granville, the marriage bond of Richard Harrison and Ann Patillo, 1774. I can also furnish valuable data on the Daniel ancestors who intermarried with the Harrison and Patillo lines. These families moved early to Granville County.—JEANNETTE E. BIGGS, Historian Granville County, Oxford, N. C.

QUERY 1,257

STEWART - HARRISON-PATILLO—Ancestry desired of the Rev. William Harrison, of Virginia, and wife Ann, daughter of the Rev. William Patillo, of North Carolina. They had three or more sons and three daughters. William Harrison was second cousin to President William H. Harrison and moved to North Carolina, where he was killed by a fall. His widow married a Farrer (Farrar), and had a son and a daughter who lived and died in Laurens, S. C. A grandson, Col. James Farrar, lived (I think he owned) at Porter Springs, Ga. A Harrison son lived on the Red River in Louisiana. One married Mariah Thompson, of Laurens, S. C., who moved after his death, to Marietta, Ga. A daughter married (1) a Woodruff, and (2) a Berry, one married a Moss and the third married a Golightly. All lived in Spartanburg, S. C. The Woodruff son moved to Gainesville, Ga. John Harrison taught in Spartanburg, and later studied theology under Dr. John B. Kennedy, of Laurens, S. C. He married Margaret Stewart (ancestry desired) in 1812 in Laurens County, South Carolina. Her brother, Thomas Stewart, went as first missionary to Indians across the Mississippi. He moved to near Jefferson, Ga., preaching to three Presbyterian churches in 1818. He organized the first Sunday school in Georgia (north of Augusta at Hebron).

have a high school diploma to enter the classes at the John Marshall Night School, October 5?—Anxious, Richmond.
No, it is not necessary to have your diploma. English classes are given for students who have never had any high school work, as well as for more advanced scholars. If you have had some high school work, you may be admitted to the typing class, even though you did not finish high school.

HARRISONS OF BERKELEY

Recently I heard a radio program in which President William Henry Harrison was represented as the son of Benjamin Harrison and was said to have been born at "Berkeley," Charles City County, Va. Now I believe that this was a mistake. Wasn't William Henry Harrison the grandson of Benjamin, and wasn't he born in Ohio instead of Virginia?—Confused, Richmond.

You have confused William Henry Harrison with his own grandson, President Benjamin Harrison. An earlier Benjamin Harrison, father of William Henry Harrison, was born at Berkeley, Va., about 1740, served as a member of the Continental Congress, and was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a Governor of Virginia. The son, William Henry Harrison, born at Berkeley in 1773, became the ninth President of the United States. William Henry's third son, John Scott Harrison, was the father of the later Benjamin Harrison, who was born at North Bend, Ohio, in 1833, and became the 23rd President of the United States.
